"THE FIRST BREATH OF LIFE"

BY JAMES OLIVER RYAN

Listen to your breath
 To breathe the air
 From your first breath on---rising and falling
 The air is filled with depth,

Your restless breath is on a journey
 Where worldly matters come together
 This is where boundaries fall and space holds---breaths of information
 To aerate the mind
 Giving one cause to raise ones head

To taste the air---to gain a sense of focus
 To become acquainted with all that is To breathe with interest---for you are a part of greatness
 You are an art form---a magical mystical part of nature,

It is within our first breath of life
 That worldly matters come together
 As we reach for what awaits us

THE SEA

BY LUCIA JOHNSON

Why do I love the sea?
 Is it because of its continuity?
 The constant lapping of the waves,
 Enrapture me with my silent gaze.

The calm my being does absorb,
 While watching blue-greens from the shore.
 The beauty of the changing views,
 From serenity to many moods.

Never tiring of the vast display,
 Of motions, wind and sun's array,
 Upon the ocean's great beyond,
 Its impact is very strong.

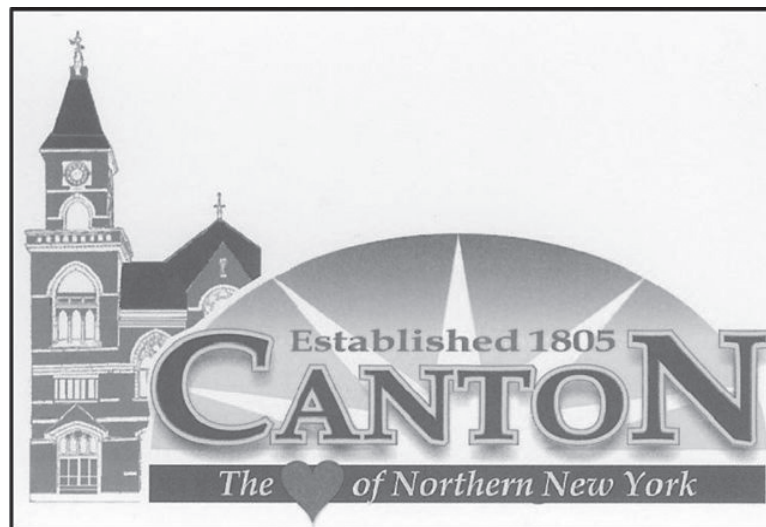

I'm not sure of this fascination,
 Although it is a wonderful sensation,

To be likened as spellbound,
 Without so much as a spoken sound.

I can relax and dream away,
 By the ocean or even the bay,
 To say that this is one of life's pleasures,
 Nothing like it can be measured.

When I walk along the shore,
 I could not want for anything more,
 The waters drown out all the noise,
 Of the world's peril and voice.

So let us be content,
 With what God really meant,
 To enjoy the beauty all around,
 And listen to the ocean's sound.

Movie Review

Dunkirk

---BY CRAIG THORNTON

Dunkirk is a war movie like no other war movie before it, or most likely after it. The film is loosely based on the historic events of the massive evacuation of British troops from the northern French city of Dunkirk in 1940. Surrounded on three sides by the Germans and cut off from both the British fleet and air force the only choice is to evacuate via the English Channel. Here at the Strait of Dover the English Channel, which separates Great Britain from France, is at its narrowest. As a matter of fact, on a clear day you can see the other shore of the foreign country.

Written and directed by Christopher Nolan, who once again plays with chronology, Dunkirk is occasionally challenging when tracking the stories and time, especially near the beginning. Have no fear, for soon you will be so emotionally involved, and wowed by the spectacular visuals and cowed by the amazing sound design and score, that your very identity will be shaken to the core and where you are and what time it is will be irrelevant.

Told in Triptych, with the title of "one hour" "one day" and "one week" the stories are woven together, and involve a cast of hundreds for the fleeing soldiers (one week), a small cast on a privately owned sail boat manned by a British Civilian Captain played by Oscar winner Mark Rylance (one day) and a cast of two British Air Force pilots in separate fighters (one hour) played by actors Tom Hardy and Jack Lowden.

Dunkirk is indefinable; elliptical, intimate, immersive, claustrophobic, compact, yet sweeping.

War is a terrifying hell and this hell is especially palpable when experienced in this cinematic feast. Has Nolan ever seen a tripod? I couldn't spot a stationary shot in the entire film, except for the perhaps the last one. Scenes of chaos, especially when soldiers feel trapped, or drowning or generally fighting for their lives are brilliantly realized. Hans Zimmer's haunting score combined with the rich, lush inimitable sound design add to the intensity.

It is beautiful to behold, and it is the type of film you experience, with the story secondary to what you are feeling, seeing and hearing. A treat for your senses, that ultimately celebrates the bravery and strength of all soldiers who have served. The fact that the film is less than two hours, rated PG-

13, with no graphic violence but it still manages to have the audience experience the horror of war, in all of its irony, senselessness and relentless fear, makes it almost subversive. Like a lyrical poem, novella or song, its impact stays with you days after you have seen it.

St. John's Conservatory Theater Cast Musical 'Kreepy Hollow'

---Randy Dodson

St. John's Conservatory Theater, now in its fourth season, has cast their all-original musical comedy KREEPY HOLLOW. Based on Washington Irving's classic short story THE LEGEND OF SLEEPY HOLLOW, their dazzling fall production will open Thursday October 26 and run through the weekend October 29, with matinees planned for Saturday and Sunday at the OFA Auditorium in Ogdensburg, NY.

Talent from the North Country

Cast with local talent from Ogdensburg, Huevelton, Morristown, Watertown and Lisbon, KREEPY HOLLOW stars Macy Murdock as Alia Hobb, Ava Rutherford as Ravinia Hobb, Caroline Silver as Etta Hobb, Grace Brunet as Tabitha Hobb, Richard O'Donnell as the narrator Diedrich Knickerbocker, Angela Conzone Dwyer as Ichaboda Krane, Christopher Dwyer as Bartholomeus Van tassel, Shelly Murdock as Electra Van Brunt, Tessa Harper as Eureka The Blue Witch.

Also cast are Eric Robinson as Thaddeus Frye, Christopher Rodriguez as Abner Frye, Maddison Cameron as Amias Moore, Gabriella Ott as Charity Smyth, Logan Carr as Chastity Smyth, Mia LaBelle as Comfort Cooke, Madison Miller as Constance Cooke, Delia Payne as Felicity Caldwell, Calea LeBel as Mercy Caldwell, Angela Schembry as Oheo Seneca, Hailey Weber as Parthenia Jones, Gerard Powers as Emory Jones, Samantha Holt as Prudence Miller, Stephen Chambers as Isham Miller, and Ryan Woodard as Nochal Head, the town crier.

A Celebrated playwright

KREEPY HOLLOW is a goosepimply musical comedy featuring an original book, music and lyrics by award-winning playwright and composer Richard O'Donnell under his nom de plume B. R. Kleep. O'Donnell has penned over a dozen full-scale musicals produced here, Chicago, and New York City where he received 3 ASCAP

Awards for his Off-Broadway musical comedy ONE & ONE. A playwright in the tradition of Edward Gorey, KREEPY HOLLOW is reminiscent of Tim Burton's Gothic ingenuity, and is well suited for this upcoming Halloween season.

Same story, different attitude

Set in the 1860's along the St. Lawrence River, when the first appointed female teacher, Miss Ichaboda Krane, takes over the ghostly schoolroom built on-top of a sacred Iroquois burial ground. With a classroom filled with eclectic children, her "eye" on Bartholomeus Van Tassel, a few unexpected guests, and a jealous local woman Electra Van Brunt watching her every move, Miss Ichaboda Krane's Halloween celebration turns into a most haunting affair. Narrated by Diedrich Knickerbocker and macabre Hobb Sisters, KREEPY HOLLOW tells the tale of Ichaboda Krane's encounter with all things that go bump in the night as the dreadful Headless Horseman rides again.

A theater company like no other

SJCT offers the Ogdensburg community three seasonal (Winter, Summer, and Fall) all-original musicals. SJCT productions are fully staged, costumed, and orchestrated (the cast sing karaoke-style to a studio produced score) and include a book (story and dialogue), music and lyrics. Nowhere else in the United States is there a professional regional theater company that produces all-original musicals. Nowhere but here, in Ogdensburg, New York, that is.

KREEPY HOLLOW principal creative staff includes Producing Artistic Director Mr. O'Donnell, Musical Director and Choreographer Angela Conzone Dwyer, Vocal Arranger and Digital Orchestrator OFA graduate Ryan C. McNally, Scenic and Prop Designer Stephen Chambers, Costume and Makeup Designer Karen Fischbeck, assistant Costumer Heron Hetzler, Technical Director and Production Coordinator Christopher Dwyer, Sound Designer Richard Patton, Lighting Designer Barry Pratt, and Props Master Tonya Ott. Collectively they have over five decades of professional theatrical and academic experience including regional, stock, bus and truck, off-off-Broadway, off-Broadway, and Broadway stages.

ST. JOHN'S CONSERVATORY THEATER is a non-for-profit company of actors, artisans, and artists. It is their vision to create educational, inspirational, and professional opportunities for local talent of all ages while presenting original musicals based on literature, folklore, and legend.

Just the facts

KREEPY HOLLOW opens at the OFA Auditorium in Ogdensburg, NY. Show times are Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings October 16, 26, 27, 28 at 7 PM and October 28, 29 at 2 PM.

Tickets cost $15 at the door (suggested donation), or $10 at brownpapertickets.com.

For more information, please visit St. John's Conservatory Theater's Facebook page: www.facebook.com/stjohnsconservatorytheater.

Shelly Murdock is Electra Van Brunt, Christopher Dwyer is Bartholomeus Van tassel, and Angela Conzone Dwyer is Ichaboda Krane in the upcoming performance of Kreepy Hollow by St. John's Conservatory Theater. The production will take to the Ogdensburg Free Academy auditorium stage in October. Check out the St. John's facebook page for ticket information.

SUNY Potsdam Instructor Launches “Sum of Which” Math Game

---Dr. Anthony Betrus
The Game Connoisseur

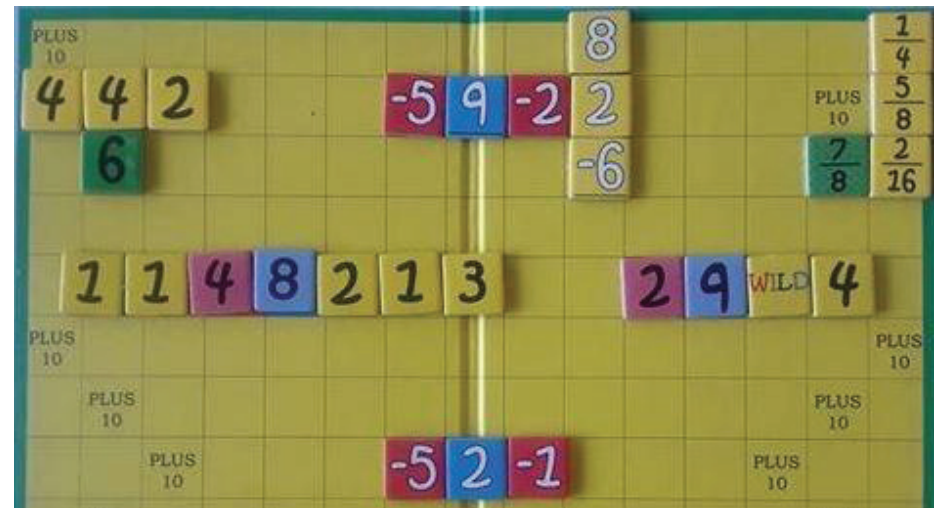

September 2017 marks a significant milestone for local SUNY Potsdam Instructor Becky Duprey. Mrs. Duprey has been developing “Sum of Which” for the past year. This month will mark the completion of her Kickstarter campaign, intended to bring the game to a wider market. If funded, it will also provide support for expansion packs, as well as an iOS and Android mobile app. As stated in the Kickstarter website (<http://kck.st/2xOP8XB>): “SUM OF WHICH is a “growing game”. The original version requires players to add to ten. However, the game board from SUM OF WHICH Senior can also be used with the expansion tile sets, thus changing the game a bit; Using the same board and a different tile set, players will work to add to 20, add fractions to one, add in-tegers, etc. I have continually rolled the profits from the Junior and Senior versions of the game into printing of the expansion tile sets for SUM OF WHICH is TWENTY, SUM OF WHICH is ONE (fractions) and SUM OF WHICH INTEGERS.”

Becky originally started out as a classroom teacher, and is now a veteran instructor at SUNY Potsdam, specializing in training future teachers in math methods. She is also active in working with our local BOCES programs to train in-service teachers in innovative teaching and learning strategies focussed around mathematics and technology. The development of the game comes from a career of paying attention to what both what kids need, as well as what makes learning fun. In testing the game, she quickly realized that while the game was very engaging for kids, it also had a family appeal. Both the game and Mrs.

Duprey are on the edge of something big, and I very much encourage you to support her game. I personally have made my pledge, and very much look forward to a personal copy!

The LPCA also invites the public to attend an opening reception for the exhibit on Friday, September 22 from 5:00 pm until 7:00 pm.

About the Jurors

Sue Lezon has worked as a photographer on archaeological expeditions in the Middle East for over thirty years, primarily in Egypt. Living for extended periods of time in profoundly foreign environments while working with the remains of ancient civilizations has strongly influence her work. She considers her images to contain iconographic clues to the inner life of both ancient and contemporary cultures. She also teaches analog and digital photography at SUNY Plattsburgh. She believes in honoring the tradition of black and white, silver-based photography and incorporates digital images into her work, as well. Her photographs are a part of private and public collections worldwide. Sue received her BFA from Emerson College and her MFA from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Janet Millstein is a mixed-media printmaker whose work merges photography, digital medium, traditional and modern printmaking techniques. Her work is influenced by the natural world of flora and fauna as well as landscape. Imaginary scenes with rich, brightly saturated colors belie themes of turmoil, abandonment and possible dancer in the everyday world. Yet she sees the world through a glass half-full. Janet divides her time between Lake Placid and northern New Jersey, wearing a groove into the Northway. She has been a lifelong artist, studying at the Art Students League of NY, The School of Visual Arts and Parsons School of Design (BFA in illustration). Before turning to fine art printmaking, Janet had a corporate career as a graphic designer, art director and creative director. See Janet's work in person at Gallery 46 in Lake Placid.

7th Annual Grand Point North Festival

(Burlington, VT) Grammy-nominated musician Grace Potter announced the lineup for the 2017 Grand Point North music festival. The Trey Anastasio Band will join Potter, Dawes, Mondo Cozmo, Joseph, Hurray For The Riff Raff, Low Cut Connie, Son Little, and Tank & The Bangas for the annual festival, scheduled for September 16 and 17 at Burlington, Vermont's Waterfront Park. Two day passes and single day tickets are currently on-sale at www.highergroundmusic.com, by phone at 802-652-0777 or in person at the HigherGround Box Office, 1214 Williston Rd., S. Burlington.

In years past, Potter has headlined both Saturday and Sunday night at the Festival. This year, Potter will perform both nights, headlining Saturday night while Trey Anastasio Band (TAB) will headline Sunday's lineup. This will be the first show for TAB in Burlington since in October, 2011. Potter has performed on several bills with Anastasio over the years.

"This is a very special year for Grand Point North," said Grace Potter. "Growing up, I went to countless Phish concerts and the band was synonymous with the vibrant Vermont music scene. It's truly humbling to come full circle and have Trey headline Sunday at the Waterfront. I have a feeling this year is going to be one for the books."

The Trey Anastasio Band was born in Burlington, VT. In addition to Anastasio, TAB features several musicians with Burlington roots, including drummer Russ Lawton, bassist Tony Markellis, keyboardist Ray Paczkowski and trumpeter/vocalist Jennifer Hartswick. The band recently kicked off its 2017 tour, behind Anastasio's 10th solo full-length album Paper Wheels. In addition to Lawton, Markellis, Paczkowski and Hartswick, Paper Wheels features trombonist/vocalist Natalie Cressman, multi-instrumentalist James Casey and percussionist Cyro Baptista.

Continuing its tradition of showcasing homegrown talent, this year's lineup at Grand Point North will also include a strong representation of acts from Vermont making their mark on the local music scene. Local acts performing this year include smalltalker, Lake Superior, SnakeFoot, Henry Jamison, Barika, The Welterweights and Eastern Mountain Time.

"After the tremendous success of last year it was hard to imagine how we might top it this year. The addition of Trey to the lineup resolved that challenge. We're thrilled to have TAB headline on Sunday and play a two hour set to close out the festival. Vermont's enduring spirit of collaboration and community will be on display with two of the state's biggest musical artists on one stage at Grand Point North this September," said Alex Crothers, the festival promoter.

Dates : Saturday, September 16 and Sunday, September 17, 2017

Time : Saturday, Gates at 3pm. Sunday, Gates at 2pm (Box Office opens each day at 11am)

Location : Waterfront Park, Burlington, VT

Two-day festival tickets are currently available for just $89 and single day tickets are $59. Children 12 and under are free. Festival is rain or shine. Lineup is subject to change.

Steps To Success

---Vic Clevenger

The Cookin' Comedian

Everyone desires success. Our definition of what success looks like may differ but we all want it. Maybe you define it as riches in the bank and a mansion on a hill or perhaps just a comfortable living would be success to you. A nice family with kids who do well in school or simply a happy life is how you would define it. Regardless of your definition, you want it, we all do and it's nothing to be ashamed of nor should you feel guilty to seek it. Success is a good thing. It's our definition that sometimes gets out of whack or its all consuming pursuit that causes ulcers but overall it is ok to have success. Bookshelves are filled by authors, each with secrets on how to achieve it, regardless of the definition.

So I've been thinking about this a lot lately and decided there isn't just one formula for success because definitions vary. The areas in which it can be achieved are just as numerous and requires a different matrix to quantify true success. Although there may be some similarities or areas where each overlaps, you can't just have one formula or step by step process because it's just too much.

However, I'm going to offer up what I think will help you achieve success. Although you may be able to apply some of it to several areas, I have a specific area in mind but you must decide where and how it may or may not apply to you. I will in no way tell you, "If you do this you'll be a success." No blog, article or book should boast of such a claim. This subject isn't like some gourmet meal you can achieve simply by following a recipe. However here is my two cents worth on the subject, apply what you can to where you can or just toss it, which also may be your first step to great success. Here it goes.

DREAM. We are only limited by the size of our dreams. If you dream small you will achieve small and if you dream big you're bound to achieve big things.

WRITE. Yep, write. Whether its journals, poems or just three pages in the morning where your mind is flowing to your pen just jotting down what's there, just write. All the greats do it.

FOCUS. This helps you set goals to achieve whatever kind of success you are seeking to achieve.

DEVELOP. This encompasses a large area but mainly I'm talking about you. Develop yourself mentally, spiritually and your skills needed to gain the success you seek.

EFFORT. Simply put, nothing worth having ever came about without putting forth the effort it took to achieve it.

PROMOTE. This is self explanatory. I was told I was in the self-promotion business more than anything else and as a comic this is very true.

Just six simple things that will, I hope, aid you as you travel your road to great success, no matter how you define it or in which area you want it.
